PREFACE

and directions for the use of the scoring table for track and field events

This scoring table for track and field events was put forward by the Scoring Table Commission of the International Amateur Athletic Federation (IAAF) and accepted at the congress of the Federation in Brussels in 1950, after which, when a number of small adjustments and additions had been made, it was finally adopted by the IAAF congress in Helsinki in 1952. The table is based on a proposal put forward from Sweden and differs fairly considerably in respect of construction and basis from previous scoring tables, and therefore there will be reason for giving a brief account of the new system.

The basis of the scoring table is the curve which is called the performance curve. With regard to the construction of and basis for this curve the following remarks may be advanced.

It is obvious that a sprinter runs 100 metres faster than a 10,000-metres runner does, when the latter runs 100 times 100 metres in succession. If the latter has a final time of 29,10,0 mins. for 10,000 metres, his average time for each 100 metres is 17,50 secs. The accepted world record for running 100 metres is 10,2 (0) secs. On the basis of the current records and comprehensive statistics for races from 100 metres to the Marathon race the mathematical relation has been calculated which has been proved empirically to exist between the running performances for the different distances. This relation has been expressed in terms of the change in speed per 100 metres for different distances run. The performance curve is shown in figure 1, in which, however, only a part of the whole curve is shown. The curve has been drawn in an ordinary system of right-angled coordinates. It can be seen from the diagram that the value 100 metres corresponds to a time of 9,38 secs. Thus, this means that a 100 metres runner covers 100 metres in the time mentioned, after he has reached his maximum speed after the start. Investigations have shown that this is after about 30 metres, i. e., that the time 9,38 secs. corresponds to the stretch between 30 and 130 metres, reckoned from the start.

SCORING TABLE 1952 - decathlon men

The scoring values corresponding to the constructed curve have been fixed at 1,300 points.

Further, the principle in the construction of the table is that an improvement in performance is valued higher the greater the performance as such. Thus, an improvement of 0,1 seconds in the time for running 100 metres gives 100 points, if the improvement refers to the time from 10,07 to 9,97 secs., but only 10 points if the improvement refers to the time from 16,01 to 15,91 seconds. It can also be expressed thus, that it requires an improvement of a whole second in the range 16,01 to 15,01 secs. to obtain an increase of 100 points, while in the range 10,07 to 9,97 secs. only 0,1 secs. is required for the same increase in points.

From the performance curve and the material on which it is based have been calculated the "comparison-figures" which—with the points value for running 100 metres as the basis—have been employed for calculating the table of points in its entirety. 10,20 seconds for 100 metres has been given the comparison-figure 1. By division of corresponding results for other distances by 10,20, comparison-figures for those distances are obtained. Thus, the time 45,6 secs. for 400 metres gives the comparison-figure 4.47 for that distance, etc. Thus, to obtain the time for 400 metres which corresponds to 10,5 secs. per 100 metres, 10,5 must be multiplied by 4.47, which gives a result of 46,935 or—rounded off—of 46,9 secs.

SCORING TABLE 1952 - decathlon men

The synoptical table which follows after this preface shows the comparative figures for the different events, and at the same time the table shows the results in each event for every hundred points.

The scoring values for running 200 metres are reckoned on the presumption that the running takes place on a track with a curve. Therefore, in order to obtain the correct scoring values for running on a straight track (without a curve), the times reached must be increased by 0,3 secs. The world record time of 20,2 secs., which was made on a straight track, must thus be increased by 0,3 secs. to 20,5 secs. before scoring value is read off and thus gives 1,300 points and not 1,420.

A corresponding principle to that for running races has been applied in working out the tables for throwing and jumping events. Putting the shot and the high jump are the events for which have been fixed the comparison-figure 1.

It is of course a very difficult matter to compare quite accurately performances in different events, but in the present table an endeavour has been made to make this comparison as fairly as possible. In the case of a comparison of this kind, more or less emotional factors often play a part, and it will probably be considered practically impossible to arrive at a scoring table which is satisfactory from every point of view.

In drawing up the table it has been considered appropriate for the scoring values to be given in whole numbers, although the calculations were made with decimals. By this arrangement the use of the table has been materially facilitated, and in practice the rounding-off can have no decisive bearing on the outcome of a combined competition. The rounding-off effected may sometimes have the result that the performance curve apparently does not run quite evenly, but this is, however, unavoidable when the rounding-off is effected in this way and can also be considered to be of no practical importance.

Finally, when the table is used it should be noted that for the throwing events all the conceivable throwing distances are not shown in the table. If for example, in the case of throwing the discus, the result attained cannot be found directly in the table, then to find the scoring value one must read off the throwing results shown in the table which are printed next below the result obtained. Thus, for a throw of 35,21 metres, the corresponding score in the table is found by reading off the result shown for 35,20 metres, which gives 500 points. The same points are also obtained for the results 35,22 and 35,23 metres. Thus, for none of these results must one read off the value corresponding to 35,24 metres, i. e., 501 points.

SCORING TABLE 1952 - decathlon men

The figures found above every result in the 100-points limits indicate the improvements in results necessary for an increase of 100 in the points value.

Example. In the 100 metres flat race for 700 points the time 11,62 seconds will be read off. Above the figure 11,62 there stands 0,32. Thus, this means that an improvement of 0,32 seconds in the result is necessary, i. e., a final time of 11,3 seconds, to gain 800 points, i. e., an improvement of 100 points.

The sign +) in the case of the 200 metres flat race means that times obtained on a straight track must be increased by 0,3 seconds before the points value is read off. The world record time on 20,2 (0) seconds was recorded for a straight track, and thus for points evaluation must be increased to 20,50 seconds, which time gives 1,300 points.
